

CONFERENCE CENTER

The Competa Conference Center is a new conference and training facility located in Rijswijk, easy to reach by car and public transport. The Competa Conference Center opened in March 2010 and after an initial trial period we have decided to develop the center further. Full professional conference and training facilities are being installed.

The venue has a conference capacity of 100 people and is available for use by anyone with an interest related to the advancement of information technology. This includes user groups and other non-profit organizations, companies, and individuals wanting to run seminars, conferences or training sessions on topics of a technical nature. The facilities are available for free or low cost – see below for more details.

Mission

To provide a meeting place for technology professionals to share knowledge and experience, help each other and learn.

Why does Competa do this?

Technology develops and matures through the sharing of knowledge and experience. User groups, companies and conference organizations all play a part in facilitating the knowledge transfer. But we noticed that something was missing:

- Conferences are infrequent and may be difficult to attend due to work commitment, cost and timing
- Companies offer free seminars but these are often a sales pitch rather than technology focused events
- User groups and other non-profit organizations struggle to find venues for meetings that provide adequate facilities at an affordable cost.

We care about technology and so wanted to create a venue to fill the gap. It is our vision that the Competa Conference Center will become the meeting-place for information technology knowledge exchange in the Netherlands.
